

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A symmetrical stacked inductor comprising a plurality of conductive layers using at least one conductive line formed out of a symmetrical and geometric conductive layer and having at least one inter-metal dielectric layer
5 for isolating each conductive layer, and wherein the conductive line does not intersect; and a plurality of vias placed between the inter-metal dielectric layers for electrical conduction.